A peaceful quiet has fallen over the Lylat system. The once awesome and terrible empire of the mad scientist Andross, lies in ruins across the dry, rocky plains of Venom. The Star Fox team, a band of ex-military soldiers for hire, begins the long journey home to Papetoan aboard their new ship, the Great Fox. The name had struck them all as ridiculous but it wasn't a good idea to argue with General Pepper, who insisted on not only a handsome reward for their service to the Cornerian Army but the ship as well.

Time passes uneventfully on Papetoan. Thanks to their substantial monetary reward from General Pepper, the Star Fox team grows to include two new members, Fay and Miyu. Slippy uses the down time to not only improve upon the Arwing, but to develop two new fighters as well.

Meanwhile, across the galaxy, an all too familiar evil plots its revenge.

Andross is alive!

One by one Cornerian outposts all across Lylat begin falling silent. Soon General Pepper's worst fears are realized when a Cornerian military convoy is destroyed by a strange creature, that could only be the work of one man.

"Send word to the planet Papetoan, we need Fox McCloud, we need Star Fox!"

STAR FOX TEAM

Fox

The leader of the Star Fox team, Fox was raised by his father James on the planet Papetoan. After his father was killed in a test flight orchestrated by Andross, Fox left the military academy to form Star Fox. His military training has made him a well rounded pilot with a good balance of offense and defense.

Slippy

One minute Slippy with working on repairs in a Cornerian hangar, the next he was being whisked off to join Star Fox by two of his classmates, Fox and Falco. Slippy may not be the best pilot on the team, but he knows how to get the most out of an Arwing. Slippy's Arwing has plenty of extra armor so he can worry less about flying and more about surviving.

Falco

Before leaving the academy to join Star Fox, Falco and Fox had a reputation as the two best pilots Corneria had ever seen. The strict military life never suited Falco, and he was delighted when Fox gave him a reason to leave. Like Fox, Falco balances offense and defense to be an excellent all around pilot.

Miyu

After being kicked out of another gang, the Hot Rodders, for being "too crazy", Miyu found herself in much more understanding company with Falco. She tends to shoot first and ask questions later, leading many to wonder if she'd rather save a planet or just blow it up. Miyu likes her Arwing with plenty of speed and plenty of firepower.

Peppy Hare

An old friend of Fox's father James, Peppy took a special interest in Fox. Peppy's years of service and close friendship with General Pepper, have helped keep the team out of trouble even when their activities are a little less than legal. Peppy may not be as quick as he use to be, but he compensates with a strong focus on defense.

Fay

As the daughter of a wealthy Cornerian official, Fay enjoyed plenty of fast, luxurious speeders as a child. But when Andross attacked Corneria, she vowed to do something more important with her life. She made quick friends with Miyu, who shared her preference for fast, powerful ships.
